Two schools shared examples of strategies for SEL-driven reading in action within their English classrooms.

Throughout the session, each activity was followed by a moment to celebrate teachers' achievements, ensuring that they leave feeling more inspired and empowered.

Teachers re-wrote their challenges as affirmations using 'I can' statements, transforming perceived obstacles into achievable goals.

As a celebratory touch, each teacher received a paper plate and fruit-shaped sticky notes. They filled them with goals and affirmations for the next year, turning their plates into a harvest of their SEL journey's progress.
