Filmit: Script Writing

A. What is a script?

A script is the written text of a play, film, or broadcast.

B. Why do we need to write a script? (Top Notch Cinema, 2020)

The purpose of scriptwriting is to create the main concept of your video production in written form. It provides a predetermined look at what will be said and what scenes will be shot to match the overall message you're trying to portray. Your script will help you plan ahead as you prepare the many different aspects that will come together to make the final product.

Writing a script will also give you a better idea of the direction you'd like to go with your strategy. It may give you a better idea of who you want to be in the video and what their role will be. You'll be able to decide whether you're going to have an actor or an owner of the business be the one in the video and whether they'll do a voiceover or be on-screen.

8 benefits of scriptwriting for video production

1. Create a visual concept on paper
2. Focus on your target audience
3. Spend less time filming
4. Save money
5. Grab attention right away
6. Get your message across
7. Tell a story
